

AVA SEED

Genre: Sci Fi Action

Ready or not, as life on Mars died, it triggers the release of the Universal Ava Seed on Earth; A soul reincarnated to see the beginning and end

A group of mixed universal species on Mars' metaphysical research complex place the souls of their youngest and most talented into DNA pods and shoot them off to early earth when Mars dies.

As they evolve, the envy of one starts the first war and destroys earth's harmony leading to the fall of Atlantis and the continents separating.

Ancient civilizations flourish and die from cataclysm and war. Religion is born and temples are soon covered in gold and jewels as giant machines gouge the Earth. Dead spots appear around the world. Rails and roads divide Earth and rivers diverted until only the odd piece of ley line glows dimly.

Deep in the ocean, Atlantis glows bright in the energy backlash.

In the present, Mother Nature wreaks havoc on all continents. Smog and poisons float from one country to the next.

The ozone layer shrinks!

Disrupted, a slim crystal ship sits undetected and awakens a Watcher. In energy form, the Watcher enters a child's mind, Ava. She becomes an environmental lawyer and is later trapped by a scientist's experiment to air condition the world that freezes everything and everyone on Earth.

300 years later, Ava is carved out of the ice by a robotic laser to become the mother of the new human race.

AVA SEED is Mission to Mars meets Armageddon science fiction on earth that is a top 50 finalist at Red Inkworks Screenplay Competition.

Orlanda Szabo

204-482-8132

orlanda@orlandaszabo.com