

CONVERGENCE

Genre: Action/Thriller

Use of Venda's family legacy has a name... death

Logline: Facing worldwide extinction, a housewife has 18 hours to use the same talent that killed her mother to save us from deadly solar flares with a rogue General determined to stop her.

Venda Krutzinski has to get to the Bermuda Triangle in time to save the world while a rogue General that insists her son join them, recalls her husband to active duty.

Seeing enemies everywhere, the General rallies the crew to mutiny while the Captain sabotages his own ship to stop him. Now the reluctant leader, Venda intends to draw energy directly from the Earth's core from an oilrig in the Bermuda triangle to deflect the killer sun flares.

Meanwhile, her husband sacrifices himself to ensure their son and his friend escape the rogue ship. When a massive flare hits, the collision of energies unleashes enormous electrical energy. The north and south magnetic poles switch and launch Earth into the 5th dimension.

A 2012 meets the Matrix action fantasy "CONVERGENCE" is a Red Inkworks Screenplay Competition Finalist & a BlueCat quarterfinalist about a housewife whose ability to manipulate energy triggers the release of enormous electrical energy that frees the physical world to start again.

Orlanda Szabo

204-482-8132

orlanda@orlandaszabo.com