SYNOPSIS: O'Neill, Teal'c, Dr. Fraiser and the Airman return to SGC with a stone Freya, Daniel and Carter have just turned to stone. Daniel is the key, but O'Neill doesn't know how.

Jacob/Selmak comes to SGC to see Carter, unwilling to chance infecting the Tok'ra, he helps Hammond coordinate a search and rescue. O'Neill and Teal'c take Daniel to Zeus, who it appears has ordered a statue of Thor, not realizing the real thing is on the way.

Aris Boch brings Thor to Zeus, ambushed he can only watch the illness reverse and be the brunt of O'Neill's fury. Back to normal, Carter rejoins SG-1 just before they take off in Boch's ship.

Horrified at the havoc and chaos, Thor leaves the care of his people to Freya, while he joins Jacob/Selmak and the Tok'ra in the hunt for Apophis. Furious at his inability to attain Zylanda's shield and her total disrespect, Apophis turns to violence. Unbeknownst to him, SG-1 is onboard and bent on getting her back.

Zylanda's time is running out, she has seen too much and will go back into stasis, soon. SG-1 fights their way to their ship. In free space, Zylanda's last vision enables the Tok'ra ship Zy to transport them just before a crippled ship hits Boch's ship and they both explode. Back at SGC, can O'Neill reawaken Zylanda, or not?
